The Daily Donut Applications

So now that everyone knows the majority of how The Daily Donut works and how it is laid out, Lily is going to start needing help! Right now, The Daily Donut is run by one person! If you think you have the time, please apply to help out with The Daily Donut! Since this is extra, and isn't required at Discord Donuts, Lily is paying at least 200 donuts to everyone who helps out with an issue once it is released (excluding people who are interviewed). If you would like to apply to help out with The Daily Donut, please apply here:

Templates

Our developers at Discord Donuts make many commands to make our lives easier. One of these commands is called templates. When you deliver a donut, it's customary to have a greeting or message when you give a customer something, it's not just here at Discord Donuts, it's everywhere. Think about it. How many times have you gone to Chick-fil-A and they didn't say, "My pleasure!" They always say that in America, anyway. All you have to do to make/edit your template is d!template edit. If you have never made a template and need to see placeholders, run the command d!template. Don't forget to add the Discord Donuts Patreon!

Absences

This hasn't been a problem, but it's always easier to stop a problem before it happens than when it's already taking place. If you know you won't be able to be online for a certain amount of time, please make yourself absent for that set time. While you are absent, if you think you will be able to come on every now and then, you can mention that in why you are going to be absent. Please make sure the time is reasonable. One of the options of absences is not knowing when your absence will end. Try not to use this unless you absolutely have to. If you have any questions, please contact a Corporate Officer.

On Duty / Off Duty

Speaking of it being easier to stop a problem before it begins, the On Duty system has become a problem. Many people are becoming offline while they are On Duty. As we've said before, our developers work hard to make life easier on us employees, but we've been taking this function for granted. The On Duty is for everyone who uses Discord Donuts. Customers, employees, Kitchen Managers, and Corporate Officers. Most customers only order if it shows that there are On Duty employees. Kitchen Managers and Corporate Officers use it to know when employees are able to cook and deliver orders. If you go offline while On Duty, it makes everything harder on everyone. All we're saying, make sure you go Off Duty before you sign out for the time being. This problem has been mostly solved, but we want to make sure it's gone before it becomes harder to tackle.

Q & A

Time for the second Q & A! Today, we are going to be interviewing one of our Corporate Officers and developers here at Discord Donuts, @williamjs! He is working on a very big project for Discord Donuts behind the scenes currently, and still has the time to claim orders and play a huge role in helping people!

Q: #1. What is your favorite part about working at Discord Donuts?

A: First of all, it is really great having others to talk to and communicate. As a developer, I also enjoy reading others' suggestions, and then implementing them.Finally, I also enjoy watching the orders grow. (not expired ones)

Q: #2. What is the hardest part about working at Discord Donuts?

A: The most challenging part? Probably getting the motivation to work. I keep getting distracted. However, once I start, I don't usually stop.

Q: #3. When did you start working at Discord Donuts?

A: July 5th, 2018. I've been here for a year, or more specifically, 1.07233904 years.

Q: #4. Would you ever have a donut for a pet?

A: I would not. I would probably end up eating it (animal? abuse) or end up stepping on it.

Q: #5. What are some of your day-to-day responsibilities of being a Corporate Officer?

A: I'm not like the other Corporate Officers because I do a different job, the developing part. I usually check on people's suggestions and program the bot.

Q: #6. What are some of your hobbies?

A: Programming and playing games. I don't really enjoy sports personally, but I have been on a soccer team before.

Q: #7. How can employees make Discord Donuts better than it already is?

A: Give us feedback, and try to reduce expired donut orders. I know, all the staff has been saying it repeatedly, expired orders, expired orders, and we get that you won't be able to work all the time. However, we do appreciate if you work often. Giving feedback on the bot is also important. Give us suggestions on how to make cooking and delivering more enjoyable! We might even use your suggestion!

Q: #8. What is one of the life lessons you've learned from working at Discord Donuts?

A: Any of the social ones.

Q: #9. What is your favorite type of donut?

A: Glazed. There's not too much sweetness, but they're still enjoyable.

Q: And finally, #10. What do you think the future of Discord Donuts is?

A: The server will get even more popular and more people will use the bot.

Well, that's it! Thanks for talking to us, @williamjs! We'd like to personally thank him for programming some of the bot, and making it so much easier for us to claim, cook, and deliver orders!

That's all for today's edition of The Daily Donut ™ !
Thank you for reading and I hope you have a wonderful day! Make sure to read our next issue, released on 8/7! Happy Summer as well, and if you live in a warmer place, make sure to drink lots of water and stay cool. Once again, have a wonderful day and stay safe!
